2 High Jobs, 1 JESD Post Top Ballot

Record response is forecast Friday when occupancy of two Jefferson Union High school district trustee jobs and one Jefferson Elementary district post goes to a verdict at the polls in 21 precincts.

Intensity of both campaigns predicts a peak ballot. Approximately 25,219 citizens are registered to cast choices in the high school district, while 16,718 are eligible in the elementary board balloting.

Residents will have a 12-hour period, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in which to make their decisions. There are 9 JUHS precincts on the Coast, 10 in the JESD, and one JUHS precinct each in Brisbane and Bayshore school auditoriums. Polls in Brisbane will be open from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Big Battle

Hottest decisions focus on the two high school positions as incumbents Lyal Ingersoll, board chairman the past five years, and Raymond T. Whitney, Pedro Valley postmaster, attempt to remain in office.

Election Service

Persons needing rides to the polls or babysitting service this Friday during the school election should call Peter J. Markovich, PL 5-2262.

Challengers and reportedly well-backed are Robert H. Hale, Laguna Salada trustee from Sharp Park; William A. Larsen, Westlake sub-contractor, and Thomas Noonan, telephone company man from Colma.

Each expects solid support in his own area.

Key aspect in the race is possibility that the Coastside can gain a majority on the JUHS board if both Whitney and Hale are successful. A strong movement is under way on the Coast for its two candidates, primarily pinpointed to oust chairman Ingersoll, claiming that as a member of the "old regime" he hindered progress on needed Coast high schools.

A Coastside newspaper has championed this "issue," but both Whitney and Ingersoll have scoffed at reports that theirs is a heated personal feud Whitney and fellow Coastsider, Don Miller, high trustee elected last year, have indicated consideration of Coast high schools has suffered unfortunate delays. Their criticism, however, had been directed at the former superintendent.

Lyal Ingersoll

Ingersoll, a Daly City contractor of 439 Crocker avenue, has been on the board for six years, last five as chairman. "I seek re-election on the basis that there is no substitute for experience, that I have endeavored to be a trustee for the whole district, and will continue to be. I know first hand the time and effort involved, and I'm willing to meet this demand," he told THE RECORD.

Raymond Whitney

Whitney, 49-year-old Linda Mar resident and popular Coastside figure, also seeks two other trusteeships. He is

MESSAGE of this trio is widespread as they summon voters to back the Jefferson Union High School District's bond and state aid issues at the polls this Friday. "Yes" votes won't hike taxes. If the measures fail, local kids may stay on double sessions, with triple sessions possible a couple of years from now. Lass on left is Jackie Willard, Westmoor High student president, while Ed Leveroni, Jefferson High athlete and Block J president, represents his school. Gent in middle is Peter J. Markovich, chairman of citizens' bond committee.

'Yes' Choice Would Ease JUHS Woes

It's up to the voters this Friday to determine the destiny of local high school children—as residents have the opportunity to wipe out double sessions, start the ball rolling for two new Coast high schools, finish Westmoor and bring ancient Jeff up to par.

That's the prospect if two-thirds of the vote casters approve Jefferson Union High School District's two propositions.

Number 1 calls for a bond issue amounting to $2,900,000. Number 2 would allow the district to borrow $8 million from the state of California.

Superintendent Edward D. Morgan statistically has reported that there will be no tax increase if voters okay both issues. With no opposition, there seems to be no logical reasons why they should be defeated, Morgan previewed.

The bond monies gained by a "Yes" vote would go to construct two new schools, one in the Sharp Park area, the other in Linda Mar. Second increment of Westmoor High (due to open in September) would be possible. The funds also would help meet fire safety requirements and other needed improvements at the Jeff plant.

Population is booming. Surveys show that by 1960 (proposed opening date of first Coast high school), the district will have 3300 students. This fall, Jeff and Westmoor each will have 1200 students, using every available space for classrooms. Even with Westmoor opening, facilities are inadequate, but it's the best the district can do under the circumstances.

Hundreds of citizens working for passage at the polls term Friday's ballot "the most important in district history." The facts are on the line. And the consequences would be felt by all parties—school officials, teachers, parents, and the most important element, the students, Morgan emphasized.

Students Lag In Reading Ability

Grade school children here show a "definite sag" in reading ability as compared to national standards.

Some 100 parents and teachers gathered at Jefferson High school auditorium Monday and heard this information disclosed by Dr. Dan Dawson, head of a Stanford survey team that is winding up a year-long report on Jefferson Elementary School district curriculum.

Dawson revealed that an analysis of tests conducted here in grades 4 through 8, "showed a definite sag in comprehension and work study skills below the national medians." At this time of year, he explained, the students should have been advanced in their reading program by another half a year.

Low In Arithmetic

The report also showed that local district children trail the nation in arithmetic ability, with more than half the youngsters below the national median in the respective grade levels.

While the district was markedly deficient in reading, Dawson pointed out that on the fourth grade level, 25 per Coastsider RAY WHITNEY, seeking re-election to the Jeff high school board today, missed the last meeting of the board of trustees, reportedly because the Post Office (he's Pedro Valley postmaster), gave him the word that he's spending too much time on schools, not enough on the U. S. mail.

If he's in bad graces now, he'll really be in hot water with the P. O. if he's 100 per cent successful today. He's the chap whose running for school board in three different districts.

It's not official but LT. ROY BEECHER will be named to the newly-created police captain job, over two other candidates who finished ahead of him in the exam.

The chief will recommend Beecher and at least four councilmen will back him up.

"Clean-Up Week" Opens Here Monday

Daly City residents have an opportunity to "clean house" next week as annual "Spring Clean-Up Week" opens Monday and continues throughout the week.

The clean-up is handled by Daly City Scavenger Co. and junk will be taken on the same day as garbage collection.

Residents are asked to place refuse on the curb in front of their home the night before pick-up day.

Papers must be tied in bundles weighing not more than 30 pounds, while trimmings and lumber should be tied in lengths not exceeding three feet.

While the scavengers will pick up just about anything, rocks, dirt and gravel are on the taboo list.

Westmoor High Ready In June? Board Doubtful

Will Westmoor High be completed by June 24?

Alarmed at progress thus far, high school trustees Monday night demanded a definite commitment from contractor Theo Meyer to see if he can deliver the plant as per contract next month.

Meyer, even though granted a 124-day extension on the project in January, may not be able to produce on time. And the board, well aware of the consequences, voiced willingness to slap a penalty clause on the contractor. This would amount to $150 a day, which Meyer won't get if the school isn't ready June 24.

Architect Mario J. Ciampi, doubtful about the deadline, told trustees "work is going well," but he wouldn't say Meyer would be on time.

"He's had lots of trouble getting competent workers, and a few materials have been delayed," Ciampi answered. "But overall, I'd say he's doing the best he can."

Superintendent Edward D. Morgan's last letter of "concern" about Westmoor, sent Friday, has not been answered. On Elio Fontana's motion, fellow trustees ordered an immediate letter to Meyer, asking a "definite answer."

Fontana, key man in the Westmoor query, blurted, "Meyer's contracts for the 'entire' plant says we'll have the school June 24. We want the school then, or else."

Principal Glenn South expressed anxiety, knowing time is essential this summer for the district to move furniture and supplies into the school.

WELCOME MAT OUT FOR DC SPRING FESTIVAL

Daly City's tenth annual Spring Festival, featuring music by the municipal band and crowning of the city's queen, will be held Sunday at the War Memorial community center from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

All residents of Daly City and neighboring communities have been extended an invitation to attend by the local recreation department, which terms the festival "the outstanding event of the early spring season."

Music for the festival will be provided by the Daly City band under direction of George Brenner.

The musical program will include selections from "My Fair Lady," plus many other favorites.

Highlight of the entire festival will be the crowning of Queen Nadine Mignault by Mayor Joseph J. Verducci. Nadine is a student at OLPH and was picked in a field of 12 contestants representing schools throughout Daly City.

Ambulance Deal Ok'd In 4-1 Vote

Agreement with M. D. Ambulance Co. to provide 24-hour service for Daly City residents won approval of the city council Monday in a 4-1 split vote.

Councilman Paul Hupf opposed the pact, declaring he was "not impressed with the financial statement."

The statement from the two partners, Vernon Vogan and Alfred de la Torre, showed various small holdings of real estate and personal property, but no sizeable amount of capital.

Hupf also questioned the fact that Vogan owned half interest in a restaurant and might not be able to devote full time to operating the ambulance business, but de la Torre said his partner was in the process of selling his share in the restaurant.

The contract provides that the company will have one ambulance on 24-hour service exclusively for emergency calls of a public nature. The city will abandon its municipally-owned service, handled by the police department, but will retain the ambulance for "insurance."

Contract with the firm contains a 90-day cancellation clause which may be invoked by either party.

"We'll be watching you very closely," Mayor Joseph Verducci told de la Torre.

Deglantoni Quits Personnel Board

John Degliantoni, veteran member of the city personnel board, submitted his resignation to the city council Monday night, claiming pressure of business did not allow him to devote sufficient time to the job.

Degliantoni, operator of a local printing shop, has served on the board seven years.

His resignation brings to two the number of vacancies on the personnel board. Clarence Schmidt quit the board last year and has not yet been replaced.

Mayor Joseph Verducci said the council would "wrap up" the appointments at the next meeting.

THREE MONTHS WAIT?

Where To Put That Water?

As workers prepared to cart away the "unsafe" $1400 Westlake water tank, council deliberated Monday on calling bids for a new temporary reservoir.

The 28,000 gallon tank in Westlake, purchased last month, was found to fall short of purity standards last week and was ordered removed. It was to have been used as a stand-by tank while workmen repaired the main reservoir which was cracked during the earthquake.

Figures submitted Monday for a replacement tank ranged from $2925 for a 30,000 gallon wooden cistern to $7325 for a steel tank of the same gallonage. Prices on 50,000 gallon tanks, wood and steel, ranged from $4235 to $8815.

3 Months Delivery

Public Works Director Otis Calhoun said delivery dates on the steel tanks might take up to three months.

Since all prices are over $2000, the council will write up specifications for both steel and wooden tanks and advertise for bids. Mayor Joseph Verducci directed City Manager Howard Stites to prepare a report comparing the two types of tanks.

Councilman Sanford Vickers questioned the emergency status which purportedly existed when the first tank was purchased. "Where's all the emergency," he asked. "We're going to have to wait all this time now for bids. If the situation is so bad, why not bypass the bids?"

Stites said that no real emergency existed now, although at the time the "unsafe" tank was a target of criticism, the public works director declared it was purchased as an "expediency."

Hundreds Mourn Death Of Smith, DC Pioneer

Hundreds gathered here Monday to pay final respects to Hugh H. Smith Sr., 74, business leader and pioneer in Daly City's municipal history. He died of a heart attack in his sleep last Thursday night at his home, 187 Irvington street.

Smith came to California in 1883 from Quebec, Canada, his birthplace.

His business acumen and civic spirit led him to leadership in both fields in Daly City's early years.

Elected to the city council in 1918, he served as mayor from that time until 1936, being re-elected four times.

First Fire Chief

Prior to that he was instrumental in Daly City's incorporation in 1911, served as one of the first three commissioners when the Vista Grande Fire district was formed in 1911, and became the city's first fire chief.

DC MARIJUANA RAID BRINGS TWO ARRESTS

Three Daly City officers and a San Francisco narcotics agent raided a motorcycle gang's rendezvous at 398 Guttenberg street Saturday afternoon, arresting two persons for possession of marijuana and launching an investigation of a possible illegal check operation.

Booked on the marijuana counts were Marilyn Battles, 22, and unemployed, and Abraham Katz, 21, also out of work, who gave his address as 20 Coleridge street, San Francisco. Both arrived here less than a month ago from Sacramento.

Inspector Bruno Conci, officers John Walsh and John Coleman, and the San Francisco official uncovered the stuff a few minutes after entering the place with a search warrant. They found about half a tin of marijuana hidden in the kitchen and bathroom, plus three or four "reefer" cigarettes on Katz, who said he got the marijuana in Sacramento.

Daly City police also have issued a warrant for Henry Kot, about 24, rentor of the Guttenberg headquarters, who is being held by San Francisco authorities on investigation of a series of motorcycle and auto thefts.

Kot likewise will be arrested for possession of marijuana.

DC Woman, 35, Says Not Guilty As 'Call' Madame

Mrs. Marjorie Roberts, 35-year-old Daly City housewife and mother of three children, will appear in San Francisco municipal court next Wednesday for jury trial on a charge of directing a call girl operation from her home.

Daly City police, long suspicious of her alleged business, and special inspector Joe Ryan arrested the woman and one of her "girls" Thursday night after arranging a rendezvous between the latter and a SF inspector in a downtown hotel.

Both Mrs. Reynolds, 107 East Vista, and the stunning blonde, Rhonda Winters, 22, alias Penny Garcia, pleaded not guilty Monday.

Miss Winters, who disrobed and accepted $20 from the San Francisco officer, is charged with agreeing to commit an act of prostitution. She listed her address as a hotel in the Tenderloin district.

Lt. Roy Beecher and the other officers, questioning Mrs. Reynolds minutes after the hotel incident, said the woman admitted she had "directed" several girls to provide "services" in motels and hotels throughout the Bay Area, including Daly City. Several prominent local names were on her list, police said.

According to Beecher, Mrs. Reynolds said she had been in the "trade" about 16 years. Two years ago, she was ar-

TAX ISSUE TOPS 'HOTTEST EVER' BRISBANE RACE

Nearly half of Brisbane Elementary School district's 1349 registered voters are expected to turn out this Friday to elect one trustee and decide whether to permit an 80-cent tax increase.

Angry debate has marked the campaign, considered to be one of the most controversial school political races in the county's recent history.

Main issue is the 80-cent tax increase, which proponents term a must to provide adequate education and housing. The opponents claim that a recent 33 per cent increase in school plant capacity makes the tax hike unnecessary.

Principals in the trustee campaign are incumbent Louis J. Duncan, who goes along with the rest of the board in supporting the permissive tax hike, and linotype operator Stephen Rewak, who has led the tax opposition front.

In the Bayshore School district, things are calm. Incumbent Garnet Robertson is unopposed. A total of 1024 are eligible to vote in the Bayshore race, but a light turnout is anticipated.

Balloting for Brisbane will be at the Brisbane Elementary school, while Bayshore voters will go to the Bayshore school. Both polling places will be open from 1 to 7 p.m.

DC Marijuana Raid Brings Two Arrests

He wasn't home at the time of the raid, but the place was jumping.

Also surprised by the raiders were George D. Zahn, 20, a San Francisco truck driver; Robert E. Colburn, 20, a sailor stationed in Oakland, and a 17-year-old Lincoln High school girl.

Zahn was released after questioning, Colburn was turned over to Armed Services police, and the girl was transferred to Hillcrest Juvenile Home.

Upon permission from Miss Battles, Kot's girl friend, Daly City police returned to Kot's residence for another look. Acting on a tip from San Francisco authorities, they found in the basement a printing press, check protectograph and paper for checks. Investigation of this discovery was being intensified at press time.

Miss Battles and Katz were arraigned before Judge Thomas L. Bocci Tuesday. The woman was remanded to the sheriff's office in lieu of $10,000 cash and $20,000 bond bail. Katz' bail was set at $5000 and $10,000.

Kot was due for preliminary hearing on the car theft count in San Francisco this Thursday.

Council, Personnel Board In Lengthy Meet On New Rules

City council and personnel board met in a six-hour session Tuesday to go over revised service rules and regulations, but announced afterwards that there was still much more work to be done.

Fred Avilez, administrative assistant, said most of the debate during the marathon meeting was on "phrasing" of the new rules.

The council and board will meet again sometime next week, at which time final revisions are to be made.

BASIN SITE MAP HELD UP BY PLANNERS

Tentative map of Westlake subdivision, 1-A, the controversial basin property sought for a school site, was taken off the calendar at Tuesday's planning commission meeting.

The matter was delayed again pending further negotiations between Henry Doelger and the Jefferson Elementary School district.

Doelger hopes to build an exclusive residential tract in the basin, located off Lake Merced and Alemany boulevards. School district has selected the 17 acres for a school site.

In other action Tuesday, the planners:

1. Denied Patricia Steinberg, 180 North Mayfair avenue, use permit to operate a voice and piano studio in her home, after hearing protest from several neighbors.

2. Approved commercial zoning for four parcels of Doelger property of Westmoor avenue, comprising about 12 acres. One of the parcels will be site of a second Westlake shopping center.

3. Postponed action on the following matters: petition from Romolo Blasi to enlarge grocery store in Crocker tract and add apartments above the store; petition from Joseph Sarto for commercial zoning adjacent to his Villa Sanitorium to allow for expansion; Sam Yonan's request for use permit to store plastering supplies in his home at 196 Irvington street; George R. Ellis variance request for addition to his home at 190 Thiers street.

Jefferson Gardener Is Reported Better

John Parodi, 60, chief gardener for the Jefferson Union High school district, is reported "recovering nicely" following a near-fatal car accident two weeks ago near Ukiah.

Parodi and his wife, Maria, 53, were injured when their vehicle skidded on a curve and plunged over an embankment. John suffered three broken ribs, the missus a back injury.

council in 1936, he successfully ran for county supervisor, holding the chairmanship during his entire four-year term. He was unsuccessful in 1940 in his bid for the office of county executive.

Smith started a teamster business, which proved to be his successful debut in the North Peninsula business world. In 1907 he contracted to move a number of small temporary houses which had been built for San Francisco refugees. He re-located the dwellings on two sites in Daly City —Hillcrest and Vista Grande —which eventually became the hub of the community.

Lumber Business

Subsequently he established a lumber and fuel business in the city and acquired extensive real estate holdings in the north county. His enterprise, the Mission Bell Motel, was considered to be the largest facility of its kind at the time it was built.

Smith, who had been ailing for about a year since undergoing surgery, is survived by his widow, Annie.

In addition, he leaves two sons, George and Hugh Jr., real estate men, both of Daly City; three daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Pursur of Millbrae, Edna Smith and Mrs. Irene Pastorino, both of San Bruno; a brother, Fred of Sebastopol; sister, Louise Bernard of this city; and five grandchildren.

Rosary was recited Sunday at the W. C. Lasswell & Co. chapel.

Requiem Mass

Services were conducted from the local chapel, with a Requiem Mass offered at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church.

Pallbearers for the last rites were Otto Schramm, California Highway patrol; Arthur Bodien, former city councilman; Leroy Johnston, businessman; Lyal Ingersoll, high school trustee; Jack Parsons, businessman; and Melvin Battye, insurance executive.

Colma Vista Grande Aerie 1848, Eagles, and Daly City fire department, both held special services one day preceding the final rites Monday.

Pay Tribute

Tribute was paid Smith this week by both city and state governments.

In a resolution passed Monday, the city council lauded the deceased Smith for "giving much of his time to promoting growth of the city." In acknowledging the "benefits he has given," the council termed the death of a man of "his caliber and distinguished service" a "severe loss," and said his memory would be revered by Daly City residents.

At the state capitol, Assemblyman Louis Francis introduced a memorial resolution in memory of Smith.

The resolution expresses "the profound regret and sorrow of the members of the California state legislature at his passing and extends their sincere sympathies to his widow, members of his family and friends."

Monday night's council meeting was adjourned in honor of the Daly City pioneer.

Quake Expert Talks Here

An earthquake expert allayed fears of some 20 Westlake Palisades residents Wednesday night at a special meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School district board of trustees.

Manuel Bonelli, representative of the U. S. Geological Survey, spoke on the "earthquake probability" in this area. While pointing out that it was difficult to predict where quake damage would be most severe, Bonelli said there was little prospect to damage of schools on sites now proposed for acquisition.

He opined that the school board was probably wise in its decision to abandon the Abraham Lincoln school site west of Skyline, because of the proximity to steep cliffs and the large amount of earth fill in the area.

He declared, however, that the new Lincoln site east of Skyline were out of earthquake danger areas.

Re-Affirm Bell Firing

In a closed personnel meeting with Harry Fosdick of the California Teachers association and Lyle Edson of the district attorney's office, the board again reiterated its action in refusing to rehire Colma teacher William Bell. Fosdick said he thought Bell would submit a letter of resignation if the board would abandon charges of "unprofessional conduct" made against the teacher, but the board held to their original decision.

Trustee Doris Wimberly was named to head a committee to study the effects charter government in Daly City might have on operation of the school district.

Insurance Contract

Insurance contract to cover "course of construction" on the Vista Mar school was granted to Allen Bender Co. after trustees pointed out that the North San Mateo County Insurance Agents association contract would expire on June 30.

- Classified employees proposed salary schedule was tabled for further study.

Administrators were directed to set up a meeting with Henry Doelger, Builder, to discuss purchase of the basin site.

Next Wednesday the board will hold a special closed session to review a study of district personnel conducted by Dr. William O'Dell of Stanford.

a candidate for the Laguna Salada Elementary board and the San Mateo Junior College district. With Miller, Whitney has voiced strong arguments for Coast high schools, having previously gone on record as opposing architect Mario J. Ciampi's "too costly" efforts on Westmoor High, citing this and previous board "lethargy" as reasons for the delay on the Coast schools.

Robert Hale

Hale, 12 years on the Coastside, has served the last seven on the Laguna Salada school board. Pulling no punches, his thumbnail criticism is: "The majority of the present board have done nothing but sit on their hands too long. It's a disgrace to be on double sessions. The board had the money and just sat by. I told them four or five years ago this would happen, but they acted blind."

William Larsen

Larsen, 880 North Mayfair, thinks his experience in building construction plus his "long interest in schools will be of benefit to the district." He currently works as plumbing and heating superintendent at the Westmoor High plant. Not forgetting the Coastside, he recognizes a hurry-up need for schools there. Father of two sons, one at Westmoor, Larsen is on the bond steering committee and has been busy for years with Scouts, churches and civic organizations.

Thomas Noonan

Noonan, 471 C street, Colma, has a long list of experience in community service. He is president of Sterling Park Homeowners, county liaison chairman for anti-sales tax campaign, member of league for better schools, organizing member of league for better schools, and president of North End Democrats. Besides a speed-up on schools, Noonan advocates "continuing study of curriculum by the board in order to assure high academic standards, and encouragement of area-wide citizens' groups will be one of my basic aims."

One post on the Jefferson Elementary board finds incumbent Mrs. Katherine Mullen, 704 Stoneyford drive, competing against James W. Murphy, Westlake salesman, and William H. Beck, internal revenue employee from Broadmoor.

Katherine Mullen

A college graduate with three youngsters, Mrs. Mullen has been a conscientious worker on the controversial board, working many extra hours to meet the duties demanded by her chairmanship. She advocates many changes within the district, moulded by her experience in office.

James Murphy

Murphy, 117 Ashland drive, eyes the post with enthusiasm. A member of Admiral Nimitz' intelligence staff during World War II, he attended Washington State and University of San Francisco. Five years in Daly City, he appreciates school problems and believes he can help meet the challenge. He is an outspoken campaigner for "open-to-the-public" meetings.

William Beck

Beck, 431 89th street, is well known in the community for his interest in school and civic affairs. After "10 years of observing JESD boards in action," he feels the district "should establish higher standards of education." Educated at University of Utah and Georgetown Law School, Beck and his wife, also a follower of the schools, have four children, one at Westmoor and three at Garden Village.

Vying for two slots on the junior college district board are incumbent Robert A. Tarver, former Daly City mayor Anthony J. Gaggero, San Mateo optometrist Robert Rosenberg ,and Whitney.

Terms of all offices at stake are for three years.

WAR MEMORIAL

Free Polio Shots Set Here Saturday, May 25

A polio immunization clinic will be held in Daly City on Saturday, May 25, at War Memorial building, Mission and Alp streets, from 9 to 11:30 in the morning.

The clinic, sponsored by the Department of Public Health and Welfare and San Mateo County Medical Society, is open to anyone between the ages of 1 and 40 for the first, second or third polio shots.

Whether a second clinic will be held here is not known because of the uncertainty of vaccine delivery, county officials said.

Although these clinics are open to anyone in the proper age group, those persons who have not received ANY polio vaccinations are urged especially to take advantage of this service.

All those under 21 years of age must have a signed consent from parent or legal guardian. Younger children must be accompanied by a responsible adult.

The Wednesday morning clinics in San Mateo from 9 to 11:30 will be continued so long as the vaccine supply lasts. At present, clinics were scheduled on Wednesdays only for this week and next.

It should be noted that the supply of free state vaccine is sufficient to give two injections to only about one-fourth of the eligible population, age 1 to 40 years. When this supply of vaccine is exhausted, the normal channel of obtaining polio immunizations will be through private physicians, and the vaccine will be available to them only from commercial sources.

The Town Record

With May half over, the city council has still not received a copy of the 1957-58 city budget . . . one of the latest starts in years.

And for the first time in many a municipal moon, there may be a couple of "no" votes in this year's budget, as some city fathers may hold out for a reduction in administrative personnel and salary cuts for some of the real top echelon rulers.

DAN DALTON, whose invalid wife, BETTY, died last month just before she was to be presented a special ramp and lift at her Broadmoor home, will be scooting around in an electric golf cart soon.

The equipment planned for Mrs. Dalton was returned and the funds were enough to purchase the cart for Dan, also an invalid.

Presentation of the cart was made this week by American Legion Auxiliary No. 824, with Broadmoor Police Chief RAY SAVAGE and MARIAN HILTON of the Auxiliary doing the honors.

Westlake housewives are in a stew over a vacuum cleaning company which promises a consolation prize if the woman misses a phone-call question which would reward her with a new vacuum.

The consolation prize is a visit by a salesman, who puts on a demonstration before unveiling the prize. After an hour's demonstration, the salesman then comes up with a two-bit pack of needles, which under present minimum hourly wage scale, is about 50 cents under the normal pittance for 60 minutes time. That's some consolation.

rested in Bakersfield for prostitution.

Mrs. Reynolds told Daly City authorities she needed the money since her husband, a hardwood floor man, was out of work. She revealed to officers that she took many of the "dates" until recent sickness forced her to make the "arrangements" only.

She was booked here, then transferred to San Francisco for prosecution.

Students Lag In Reading Ability

cent of the students had reading skills of fifth grade or beyond.

Dawson, who appeared with a team of experts from the Stanford research group, labeled double sessions "a way of cheating kids," but added that nothing could be done about it locally until the legislature allocates additional funds for growth.

Range of abilities in the district, Dawson continued, show I.Q.'s of from 150 to 160 at the upper limits to 75 at the lower range.

Gifted Child

On the subject of special classes for advanced children, Dawson expressed the opinion that "if all the bright children are taken out of a class, the others don't move as fast and the bright children do not do any better."

"Staggering" turnover of children in the district was cited by the educator as one difficulty in maintaining national education standards.

He said a constant re-adjustment to new schools has a "shattering effect" upon the students. He termed this student mobility "a real problem."

California is in the worst shape of any state in the union with 30,000 new pupils each month, he said. "The impact upon a school system is devastating."

Understaffed

Dr. Dawson warned the parents that the JESD is understaffed administratively.

Asked about the teacher turnover problem, the researcher said that changing times played a large factor in the movement of teachers. He said most new teachers are young women who are economically independent and "want to see the world." This kind of teacher, he added, won't stay.

Lack of adequate library facilities was declared one factor in the lower scores on work study skills. He posed the question, "Is tying up your multi-purpose rooms as classrooms the best way of using them?"

Weibel Comments

District superintendent H. Z. Weibel, present along with three members of the school board, stressed the fact that children now in fourth to eighth grade level have attended school during the district's heaviest period of growth.

Retarding growth of the district's facilities was the fact that the district operated on a 90-cent tax rate until 1952, and had one of the lowest salary schedules in the county, Weibel related.

The panel session was sponsored by the Citizens Committee for Better Schools. President Lawrence Freiberg introduced the speakers.

INSURANCE AGENTS SLOW BURN

Recent action of the Jefferson Elementary School district board of trustees in awarding fire insurance policy to an outside firm has left the local insurance agents association fuming.

We are inclined to agree with the agents' sentiments.

Contract was taken away from the North San Mateo County Insurance Agents association without formal bidding, after trustees claimed they could realize a savings of 17 per cent by turning over the policy to an outside firm.

The insurance agents association is a strictly local group made up of members of recognized professional ability who are active in their community.

They pool their resources in offering coverage for governmental entities. This gives all local agents an opportunity to participate in their own community's business and prevents a monopoly by one firm.

The association claims it could have drafted a policy identical to that offered by the outside firm, at the same cost.

They received no opportunity to make their proposal, since there was no formal bidding on the contract.

And in an appeal before the board after the individual firm was awarded the contract, the association received abrupt treatment by trustees.

We do not argue with the board's efforts towards economy. Where a substantial savings is involved, it is the trustees duty to award contracts to businesses offering the best material or services at the lowest price.

But we object to the transferring of a major insurance policy from an association of local businessmen to an outside firm merely on the strength of an oral quotation.

Trustees should follow the practice of other governmental agencies in advertising for sealed bids and accepting the best offer from a reliable bidder.

Certainly an association of business people who live and work in this area deserve that opportunity.

NEXT SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE?

With the prospects looking brighter all the time for a fifth San Mateo county superior court, to be located in South San Francisco, we'd like to make our nomination right now for the next superior court jurist: Municipal Judge Thomas L. Bocci.

Judge Bocci's record on the municipal court bench is unexcelled in San Mateo county. His court handles with efficiency a larger volume of cases than any other municipal court jurisdiction here and his decisions are widely known for their fairness, wisdom and impartiality.

He is a popular and respected leader, who resides in Northern San Mateo county, and his selection to the superior court bench would be a decision welcomed not only by residents from this area, but throughout the county.

DRAKE LOSES ANOTHER TRY FOR LICENSE

Thomas Drake, 27-year-old Daly City used car dealer, lost another appeal last week to have his auto dealers license renewed.

Drake, convicted earlier of illegal advertising, had his license revoked by the city council in March.

His attorneys have already appealed the decision and hearing on the matter was scheduled in court yesterday.

Drake's attorney appeared Wednesday, however, to ask the council to reconsider its action and allow the young auto dealer a probationary license which would provide for forfeiture of $500 if he "committed any act contrary to the morals of the community."

The councilmen said they would not alter their original verdict.

Assembly Okays 2nd Central Court Post

The State Assembly has unanimously passed Assemblyman Louis Francis' bill for a second municipal court judge in the San Mateo County's Central Judicial District. The bill has sent to the Senate for approval.

It is hoped that the additional judge will help clear congested court calendars caused by rapid growth and population, Frances said.

School Board's Duties

Trustee Panel Is Praised By Hi School PTAs

Jefferson and Westmoor High PTA units were well satisfied Thursday night as they heard a panel discussion by members of the Jefferson Union High School district board on trustee duties and the important bond election this week.

John Mongan, Jefferson principal, served as chairman for the evening, with Fred Goodell, district business manager, acting as moderator.

The panel consisted of clerk Mrs. Ann Eason, chairman Lyal Ingersoll, and trustees Donald Miller and Elio Fontana. The fifth board member, Raymond Whitney, was not available.

The trustees answered many questions and gave the audience a full picture on the May 17 election. Main point they stressed was a "Yes" vote at the polls "if the district is to get off double sessions and build the new schools."

Mrs. Howard Dunbar, Westmoor PTA president, accepted a check from Mrs. John Eckert, former Jefferson PTA president, representing a split in funds to get the new PTA unit launched.

Jefferson High PTA served refreshments to the Westmoor group in the school cafeteria.

By Fran Prager

If Johnny's father has a responsible job and a good income, the result of hard work and a good education, one of his first concerns today is to make sure that Johnny has the same educational opportunities he enjoyed as a boy.

Because schools lie closer to the heart of a community than any other democratic institution, the school board, as policy maker and caretaker for this unique institution, has unique responsibilities.

Two possible public attitudes toward schools can be a headache to the school board. They are indifference and misinformed, uniformed or special interest.

It is only natural that a firm entering a bid to supply the school district with furniture or gasoline or pencils and paper—or a four million high school—will send a representative to the school board meeting at which the bids are opened. But all too often, after the business of the bids is completed, there is a mass exodus from the visitors' gallery.

Want Changes

Citizens may visit the school board because they want changes in the curriculum—more emphasis on conservation, or on the effects of school and tobacco on the human body, or on various kinds of vocational training. Or, they may come because they want the school boundaries changed, or more bus service, or to vent a personal grievance against a teacher or a principal.

These pressures are obvious and for that reason relatively easy to deal with. Others are more subtle and difficult to define.

Here is where the PTA and the community at large can help. Just as it is a duty of the school board to keep the public informed on what the schools are doing, so is it a responsibility of individuals and groups that are unselfishly concerned about public education to try to interpret to the board the wishes of the community.

Open Meetings

At trustee election time, PTA action may range from writing articles such as this series to sponsoring or co-sponsoring non-partisan open meetings where all candidates are invited to appear. In localities where it is feasible, radio and television interviews are sometimes arranged.

There is yet another way in which PTAs help school boards. That is in providing trustees. Parent-teacher work affords an unequalled opportunity to gain an intimate understanding of schools and their needs and problems, the relationship of parents and teachers and children, the interaction with other elements of the community, plus experience in group leadership. In San Mateo county, as elsewhere, school boards are the richer for the apprenticeship some of their members have served as PTA leaders.

CAB MANAGER HEADS DALY CITY EVACUATION PLAN

Jack Blank, manager of the Daly City Yellow Cab Co., was appointed disaster evacuation chairman recently at the Daly City civil disaster council meeting.

Blank, in accepting the post, said he would start work immediately on formulation of a city-wide evacuation program.

Carl Steinbrugge, earthquake expert from Pacific Fire Rating bureau, spoke on meeting the crisis during a major temblor.

The disaster council reviewed proofs of the disaster booklet which will be distributed to every home in Daly City and recommended minor changes. Some 10,000 copies of the booklet will be published and distributed in the near future.

On display at the meeting was communications equipment recently purchased from federal surplus.

Trustees Table Salary Requests

Two 1957-58 salary schedules for Jefferson Elementary School District personnel were tabled last week by trustees for further study.

Assistant superintendent David Shapiro said he needed more time to confer with the classified employees' committee to determine their specific requests. Pay hikes asked by these people (clerks, cafeteria, custodial, maintenance, and bus drivers) would mean increases totaling $14,056, or $25 a month per worker.

Fred Schweickhardt, chairman of the administrative-supervisory salary committee, said his group was prepared to present their requests to the board following a meeting later this month between trustees and the Stanford survey group studying placement.

Under way, the sailing ship Balclutha now tied up at Pier 43 in San Francisco, set 25 sails with an average crew of 26 men.

Brisbane Student Has 'Real' Idea On School Needs

Today there is a problem of adding four more classes to Brisbane Intermediate school. Main arguments over it will center around finance and definition of financial terms. It is a problem that I, as a non-taxpayer, non-property-owning student, have no right to debate for or against, and I won't.

The second problem is concerned with whether or not these classes are necessary. A home economics class can be found in all modern schools and is basically designed to teach young people to live in a modern world. It gives them an opportunity to learn the basic fundamentals of balanced diets and home making.

An industrial arts class will serve to start many mechanically-minded students working on a trade that they may use the rest of their lives. These are two of the classes proposed and they certainly seem necessary.

But the most important benefits this school will receive seems to be overlooked by everyone. The school at present has no library. This, I think, is the most tragic fact of all. A school library presents books for that special age group designed to shape young ideas and give initiative for reading on free time. The library is the center of any school, high school or college.

The library, industrial arts, and home economics classes are sorely needed to make complete a modern school. Those who fully realize the significance and future implications of this will be first in line to vote this tax through.

CITIZENS URGED TO BACK GAGGERO FOR SMJC TRUSTEE

Citizens of the entire North County area were urged today to unite in backing A. J. (Tony) Gaggero of Daly City for trustee of the San Mateo Junior College district.

"Unless we vote solidly for Gaggero at Friday's election, North County will lose its representation on the college board and will in effect be in the position of allowing taxation without representation," declared Peter J. Markovich, head of the Gaggero for College Trustee Citizens Committee.

Letters To The Editor

Rewak Answers Trustee Letter On Brisbane Tax

Replying to Louis Duncan's letter in the May 2d issue of THE RECORD:

Mr. Duncan neglected to state that the tax measure he is supporting was defeated at the polls on February 19th by the citizens of Brisbane. Now, we have never heard of a minority winning an election, but that checks with the rest of Duncan's reasoning.

He states that an argument was started in the Natalie Lipman school by this "Minority" before the program was completed. This is not true. In the April 25th issue of THE RECORD, Charles Mays, another of the school trustees, admitted starting the argument by "mentioning something" regarding our group to Mr. Branin. What Mays really did was to make a sighting remark about women on the anti-tax side which Mr. Branin resented, we believe with justification. This brought on a heated argument so Mr. Duncan again has his "facts" twisted.

Indefinite Period

Before the election held and defeated in February, we were told at a school board meeting that the measure it was putting on the ballot for an increase of 80 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for an indefinite period of time didn't really mean an indefinite period of time but that it was illegal to state a definite time on the ballot. This seemed fishy to us and so it proved to be for the law states that it could have been put on for 1, 2, 3 or any number of years the trustees specified provided the request was made 60 days before the election. 86 days will have elapsed between the two elections so it would seem that if the trustees really intended the tax to be for a specified time it could have so stated, which it has not done. It is our belief that what the trustees want is a blank check from the voters and this, in view of its past blunders, is what we of the opposition refuse to sanction.

The issue is simply this: In 1955 we willingly voted the board $250,000 with which to build the new school which is now occupied and which had added 33 per cent to school plant capacity. The attendance increase from 1950-51 to 1956-57 is 62 pupils or 12 per cent. In 1950-51 we had 14 class rooms, we now have 20 excluding additional space such as cafeterias (in which meals are neither cooked nor served) and 2 auditoriums.

9.19 Tax Rate

If this measure should carry we would have a tax rate of $9.19 per $100 of assessed valuation besides being faced with having to install a sewage disposal plant which will be another increase.

This is an intolerable burden to place on property especially when there is no present emergency for the schools nor do we belive there will be a need for several years if at all. In case a need should arise the citizens of Brisbane would vote to provide for it. We think that children are being incited to believe that those who are not supporting the unnecessary proposition are their enemies.

Mr. Duncan states that any information desired could have been had by attending the board meetings. The truth is that after its defeat the in first election the trustees and many of its partisans were insulting and rude and it would have to be persons impervious to this treatment who would invade the hostile atmosphere of a board meeting packed with its adherents. It was for this reason that a group visited the office of the county superintendent of schools where we were courteously treated and given information any citizen is entitled to have. The information given us was not "garbled" nor "misrepresented" in any sense of the word.

Pledges Efforts To Defeat Brown Act Amendment

Dear Editor:

I understand that the Jefferson Elementary School Board has adopted the policy of barring the press from their discussions on the acquisition and appraisals of school sites. Will you please advise me if this is correct?

Through our various organizations I hope to get the true meaning of this amendment before the voters and do all that I can to prevent it from being passed.

Sincerely,

Colma School Choir Wins 'Excellent' At Festival

The 57-member Colma intermediate Girls' Choir earned an "excellent" rating Sunday in competition with hundreds of other schools in the Northern California Music Festival at Fremont High in Oakland.

Directed by Byron Ogden, music teacher, the Colma girls impressed the judges with three selections: "In God We Trust," "Green Cathedral," and "Climbing Up The Mountain."

Robert Cody, JESD instrumental teacher, was their accompanist on the piano, while Mrs. Muriel Vint, district music coordinator, arranged and supervised the trip.

"We're especially proud of the performance," declared Mrs. Vint. "Most of the girls come from the seventh and eighth grades only."

Judges were Douglas Kidd, supervisor of music in the Richmond public schools, and William Erlendensen, director of the a capella choir at San Jose State college.

Colma Lassies Sparkle In Big Spring Concert

Spring concert at Colma intermediate school Thursday evening gave onlookers a lively sample of folk and square dancing skills by students.

Held in the multi-use room, the affair demonstrated part of the girls' physical education training, supervised by teacher Mrs. Helen Muller. Dennis Huajardo, JESD physical education coordinator, was "highly pleased" with the turnout and results.

Girls in the act (including a swell can-can, costumed number) were: Lana Green, Bonnie Marcus, Pat Farris, Sandra Calavano, Carolyn Cameron, Janet Chandler, Georgianne Freeland and Judy Milly.

Their offerings were: "Military Schottische," "King-A-Ling," "Canadian Barn Dance," "Five-Foot-Two," "Road To The Isles," "Marching Through Georgia," "Pistol Packing Mama," "The Pine Tree," and "Parlez Vous?"

All hands deserved applause for a well-presented production.

PENNY CANDY TO PROSE

Tale Of The Occupation

Eight years ago Adalia Marquez took time out from selling penny candy at a little store nearby Gen. Pershing school to start writing of her experiences during the Japanese occupation of the Philippines.

Since that time she has given up her store. Her writing has been interrupted by labors ranging from delivering newspapers to operating a restaurant supply business.

But Adalia, Manila's first woman reporter, has finally gotten over the obstacle of that "first book" and it is scheduled for distribution on the West Coast in the very near future.

Entitled "Blood on the Rising Sun," her tale deals with the everyday activities of a family living under an enemy.

The petite 46-year-old Adalia admits she is an "escapist. I don't want to be sad."

A Lot Of Grit

And it took a lot of grit to keep happy and raise a family of three through the fearful war years and occupation.

Her husband, Antonio M. Bautista, has been missing since his escape from Fort Santiago in 1944, where he was imprisoned by the Japanese for advocating a Philippine embargo on Japanese goods.

ADALIA MARQUEZ
.... Filipino Author

Living here at 183 Oliver street, Adalia cheerfully refers to herself as a "hungry" writer.

Commenting on her present restaurant supply business and former store proprietorship, Mrs. Marquez says, "I'm not a good businessman, I'm more of reporter."

While writing, vending candy and gum, strawberries and dishes, she has not neglected her children.

Youngest Lawyer

Her son, Antonio M. Bautista, 23, is California's only Filipino lawyer and was the youngest man ever to pass the state bar. Since hanging up his shingle, he has been drafted.

Adalia's other son, Jackie, 16, is at St. Ignatius, while her daughter, Adalia, 17, attends Lone Mountain school.

The slight proportioned author is an active PTA worker in the Crocker-Pershing unit, and at one time was chairman of the PTA's citizenship committee, although not a U. S. citizen herself.

A Filipino reporter for 10 years, part of this time under Carlos P. Romulo, Adalia has spent the last 12 years in the U. S. She also lived here from 1927 to 1931 while she was attending the University of California, starting her higher education at the precocious age of 16.

Cheerful Stoic

It's been tough raising a family but the rigors of occupation taught Adalia a cheerful stoicism.

When her two boys were younger they both became ill and were unable to handle their three paper routes. So for six months she trundled off at 4 a.m. each morning and delivered all three routes on foot.

Adversity has not dimmed Adalia's enthusiasm for life.

But as she prepares to embark on a second book, she has hopes that royalties from "Blood on the Rising Sun" will make things a little easier.

A "first edition" of "Blood" carries the inscription, "To Adalia, for whom I have an abiding affection . . . with my best wishes that this book may gain currency all over the United States. Carlos P. Romulo."

We concur.

Daly City Lasses Turn Firemen, Avert Injury, Loss

Daly City firemen took a back seat to the ladies last week, as five girls were credited with preventing serious injury and heavy damage in two isolated fires.

Thursday night three young ladies, Samuela, Melody and Joan McKean, 735 Crocker, aged 15, 13 and 9, respectively, reported a fire next door at 733 Crocker avenue, then used a garden hose to halt the blaze until firemen arrived.

Fire at the home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Benofsky, had apparently been burning about two hours after the couple had left for work. Because of the girls' alert action, damage was confined to furniture and walls, although the total loss did hit sizeable $2200, according to Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy.

One day later, two Jefferson High school coeds were credited with saving two families from serious injury or even death when they turned in a box alarm for a fire at 416-A Santa Barbara avenue.

Jeanne Panella, 16, of 33 Vista Grande avenue, and Genevieve Rasmussen, 16, of 443 Vista Grande avenue, were walking by the apartment dwelling and noticed what looked like fog surrounding the dwelling.

They rushed about 200 yards to a corner and turned in the alarm.

Two couples awakened by the girls fled to safety from the burning apartment.

Fire apparently started in the apartment of Mrs. Leanna Meyers, Captain Mel Hanson said, when a frayed electric iron cord ignited a linoleum floor.

Responding to the alarm, firemen were able to bring the blaze under control. Damage was estimated at $1000.

Parents Will Pungle Up For Kids Vandalism

Troublesome and expensive vandalism at Daly City parks and playgrounds may be curbed under a new parent responsibility program announced this week by the recreation commission.

Under the plan, parents of youngsters apprehended for vandalism will be billed for the full amount of the damage.

Two For Tonight

By Leonore Brewer

One of Tennessee Williams' more appealing plays is "The Glass Menagerie," which The San Francisco Theater Company (Abbott-Abrams Productions) is reviving very successfully on weekends' at 1725 Washington street.

It is laid in a miserable little apartment where live Amanda (Barbara Franger) and her children Tom (Dave Manley and Laura (Roz Beck-Meyer), a desperately shy crippled young girl whose only source of pleasure is her collection of glass animals.

Amanda's dream is that Laura have a gentleman caller (Bob Belanger), and the play revolves around the realization and subsequent shattering of this dream.

Everyone Important

We hesitate to call it a tragedy. That always implies a great deal of melodramatic soul-searching ended by one or the other of today's most popular (on the stage) deaths: acute alcoholism or a massive shot of heroin. However, it is not as funny as the audience's laughs, some in the wrong places, would imply.

Rather, it is a picture of the life of "quiet desperation" lived by countless thousands of families whose lines of communication with each other have long since broken down, leaving them to drift through life, bitterly alone.

There are only four roles so everyone is important, but the chief burden falls upon Amanda, and success or failure rests upon her. Barbara Franger in a beautifully shaded performance is equal to the demands of the role. If anything, she is more than equal, as she projects a strength which Amanda didn't have.

Fine Lighting

There is something whispy about Amanda, with her everlasting talk of the gracious life she once had. She is strong not by nature but because she has to be strong, because she has to fight to get Laura a gentleman caller, because if she doesn't who will? There is nothing whispy about Miss Franger's Amanda; under those honeysuckle tones rings a will of steel. One cannot believe that Amanda would fail at anything.

James MacMillan's lighting always adds considerable to a production, but we would like to dim one spot. It is all right for the picture of the father to brighten the corner where he is, but not quite so brightly.

Unlike many of Tennessee Williams' more sensational characters noted for their depravity, Amanda and Laura and Tom remembered for their poignancy and pitiable yet aggravating inability to face realities.

Vandals Hit School

Vandals did $75 damage Tuesday night when they broke 11 windows at Colma intermediate school with BB guns and rocks, police reported.

Their "target" was confined to one room, according to principal Bernard Gerdes.

Thief Sorry, But 'Must Make Living'

Things are tough all over—and even thieves have consciences.

Ask Fred Bargioni, real estate man at 1859 Junipero Serra boulevard. He learned the hard way.

Late Thursday night an intruder entered his office (rear window pry job), ransacked the premises, and slipped off with a $120 portable typewriter and $30 in stamps.

Scotch-taped to the wall was this note:

"Sorry, but we all have to make a living."

Spirited College Pair Get Genuine 'Facts Of Life'

Two frisky young men who tried to "take over" Kirchhubel's bar Monday night are doing a little bit more serious thinking today.

Both college students, Nathan F. Shoemaker, 24, of San Francisco, and his buddy, John Sanchez, 23, 85 Orange street here, merely had too much to drink.

They plowed into the joint, taking choice seats away from other imbibers, and talked too loudly.

An argument ensued between Shoemaker and bartender James Colombo. Shoemaker tossed a glass of beer at the man behind the counter.

Cops arrived and asked questions. Sanchez defended his pal. Four policemen—plus handcuffs — were needed to steer the belligerents to the clink.

To cap it all, Shoemaker warned the gendarmes, "you've gone too far. Stites (city manager) is a friend of mine." Didn't do much good.

Each of the spirited guys was booked for being drunk, disturbing the peace, resisting arrest.

Both confessed to Judge Thomas L. Bocci in court Tuesday. Hizzoner listened, then moved. Five days in jail and $100 fines were the sentences.

Lake Almanor is famous for its large rainbow and wily German brown trout.

STEAK BARBECUE KEY FEATURE AT SERRA FESTIVAL

A sizzling steak will be barbecued for each of 1000 diners at the annual Father's Club Spring Festival at Serra High School in San Mateo this Sunday.

Chef John Jacobsen will be in charge of the outdoor barbecue which will be served in the Serra cafeteria. Service will be directed by Mrs. Arthur C. Hoffman of San Mateo, assisted by the Serra Mothers Auxiliary and sophomore and freshman students.

Thomas C. Moroney is general chairman of the "Western" fete, which is to open at 1 p.m. and will feature entertainment by outstanding teen talent artists of Notre Dame, Belmont, Mercy and Serra high schools. Serra bandsmen will provide background music throughout the festival.

Members of the sponsoring Father's club have been divided into parochial committees. Each parish will man a games booth.

Wm. P. Lyons of South San Francisco was the winner of a Sunbeam Electric Frying pan, one of seven awards to be given away. Other awards will be made Sunday.

Festival plans are under general direction of Fr. Thomas Kennedy, principal, and James Knecht, Fathers' club president

TWO BROADMOOR SCOUT OFFICIALS GET 'GOOD' DUTY

Two Broadmoor Scout dignitaries, Dr. George Warner, 819 Thornhill drive, and William Caldwell, 807 Thornhill, have received invitations to attend Woodbadge Training Courses this summer, according to the San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Dr. Arthur C. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the National Council, has asked Dr. Warner to attend the Woodbadge Course in June at Shaver Lake's Camp Chawanakee, near Fresno. Caldwell will be the guest of John P. MacGregor, Canadian national Scout executive, at Chilliwack, British Columbia.

Caldwell's invitation to attend the Woodbadge in Canada is the only one issued by the Boy Scout Association this year. While he's busy at Chilliwack, his wife and family will visit friends and relatives in Vancouver, B. C.

Dr. Warner is area commissioner for Broadmoor Village Scouts, while Caldwell is neighborhood commissioner, devoting his time to Cub Pack 293, sponsored by the Broadmoor police reserves, and Cub Pack 84, sponsored by Broadmoor's American Legion Auxiliary.

The flag is a four-team dogfight, with next week's tilts providing the crown winner. And serious Steve Mezzera, Jeff's first-year skipper, thinks his boys will have it in the clutch.

Burlingame at Carlmont

Eddie Again

Sturdy Ed Leveroni, rapped 7-5 by South City in a home scramble Friday, recovered control Tuesday here and stopped San Mateo on four hits, 6-2. This kept the Tribe tied for first with Hillsdale. Idle last Friday, the Knights nipped Carlmont, 5-4, Tuesday to stay in stride. Defending champ South City, as jittery as the rest, pulled to within a half game of Jeff and Hillsdale with a 3-2 nod over baseent Burlingame.

Capuchino, with brilliant pitching, is one game out, getting there Friday with a 9-0 job over Carlmont. With a bye early this week, the Mustangs, as their coach predicted, are tabbed for a torrid finish.

Pitchers Decide

But if Leveroni and junior Paul Tapia come through Tuesday (hosting Hillsdale at Marchbanks) and the following Friday (dangerous Cap there), Mezzera will nail the championship. The Tribe is sticking well. Mound boys hold the answer.

"This loop could wind up in a four-way tie," Mezzera prognosticated. "I do think we can take it, but who can tell.'

Cap has a decided edge schedule-wise. Next two foes for the Mustangs—San Mateo and Blingum—should be breezes. But Mezzera has triple trouble. What about Hillsdale and South City.

Leveroni, gunning for the loop strikeout mark, wasn't sharp Friday. He walked five and was reached for seven timely hits. His bad inning was the sixth, when the invaders exploded for four tallies. Jeff's main outburst, in the last frame, almost turned the trick. But two runners were left stranded after the Indians unloaded for a pair of scores.

Scott Red Hot

Del Scott, batting a fancy .538, got two hits. So did the first sacker Barry Haanen, All-League candidate, who's .321 to date. Outfielder Gary Ryan's stunning catch midway in the tilt was a crowd-raiser. Catcher Bill Strassburger played his usual heads-up game.

Jim Vaughn, Warrior starter, got the win, though he retired in the sixth, then came back to the hill for the final inning. He allowed seven hits.

Three SM pitchers couldn't hold the Tribe. Big frame for Jeff was a four-run sixth, breaking a 2-2 battle. Rugged base running by Tom Cloutier after he singled, two walks, and two hit batters destroyed the Bearcats.

Cloutier Helps

Cloutier's two singles and a couple by Leroy Franzoia, both reawakened at the plate, headed Jeff's seven hits.

Mezzera's team plays Sacred Heart at Balboa this Friday in an exhibition. Final league encounter for the DC club is a week from Tuesday, a make-up with Burlingame.

660 Mark Is Set By Ram Soph

Sophomoré Dave Dunbar of Westmoor set a new league record Saturday when he ran the 660 in 1:30.3 during C division competition in the PAL championships at Stanford. The Rams' only other finisher was Bud Piazza, scoring a fifth in the 120 low hurdles, also for the C's.

Dunbar, outstanding in cross-country, is Ernie Ribera's key man for next year. Dave is liable to establish a few more marks before he's through.

Capuchino swept varsity honors, while Menlo-Atherton copped the B and C titles.

Summer Swim Signups

If you're at least 48 inches tall, male or female, full of vim, and willing to learn—you are eligible to enroll NOW for the big summer swimming program at Jefferson High pool.

Director Mike Orlich's staff handled 2100 residents last year, and this time the figure will be even more staggering. In fact, the program is one of the best in the vast Northern California area.

Signup Slips

All students in the area's public and parochial grammar schools will get signup slips this Thursday and Friday. These, inked by youngsters and oldsters alike, must be turned into Orlich at the pool next week, Monday through Friday nights from 7 to 9 o'clock. This deadline will allow Orlich to chart his busy schedule.

Briefly, the program offers one and all 10 one-half hour lessons to become qualified swimmers. The popular pool will be open every afternoon (2:30 to 4) and evening (7:30 to 9) Monday through Friday, beginning June 17 and ending August 23.

Small Fee

Only fee is $2.50 per individual. Suits and towels will be furnished.

Six accomplished instructors (familiar names hereabouts), will guarantee top safety and the finer points of water instruction.

Orlich's staff consists of Arlene Pool, Norm Cady, Janette Sears, Sharon Boyle, Phil Delucchi and Charlene Van Vliet.

DC Drug Nine Back In Stride, Rip's Moar's, 7-1

Two Daly City Drug pitchers held Moar's Cafeteria to three hits Sunday to register a 7-1 win at Marchbanks.

Terry Christman worked the first five frames, allowing two hits. Barry Krohn relieved the rest of the way. Eddie Creighton, tagged for seven hits, got the loss. He gave way to Bacigalupi in the seventh.

Mike O'Leary continued his batting spree for the locals with two for three. He accounted for a pair of rbi's and a stolen base. Versatile Mike played both short and third.

Good defensive plays were notched by Mike Rovai (key man on double play) and Bruce Hix, his fill-in at second.

Saturday's game on the same diamond was rained out. This Saturday the Tom Bournellis kids face Milano Inn in a return go at Balboa Park. Sunday foe is the Grove Moore-coached Portola Cubs, always a tough outfit. Game is 11 o'clock.

Ram Varsity Concludes Season At Marchbanks

Westmoor's "nonesuch" varsity baseballers conclude a surprisingly successful first-season this Friday when they entertain O'Connell High at Marchbanks. Action begins at 3:15 o'clock.

Dutch Meyer's Rams shot over the .500 mark with a 16-4 lacing of Cubberly here Friday and a 4-1 victory over San Rafael Military Academy there Monday night. The locals have a 9-7 record.

Carby West, a kid with enough stuff to blaze in the North PAL next campaign, will hurl the finale.

Kayo Artist

Picking up a reputation for strikeouts, Carby limited both Cubberly and the military legions to four hits. He fanned seven Cubs and fired the third strike past 10 San Rafaelites.

Dave Simmons, third sacker, beefed Westmoor's 10-hit barrage Friday with three for four. West's sidekick on the hill, Dave is batting .309. Sid Swanson, Ram outfielder, is top sticker with a hefty .472 mark.

Meyer's nine stole 15 bases Friday. They need an adding machine for their season total in this department. Cubberly's nine errors told part of the story.

Big Frame

The Rams got all four runs against San Rafael in the sixth inning, overcoming a 1-0 deficit. Three military miscue aided the outburst. Simmons, Marty Knedel and Rich Hottal collected singles.

Only one letdown on the Ram front. Skychaser Bob Roller, hurt in the Half Moon Bay game, is out for treatment of a shoulder separation.

Cage 'Deadeyes' Get Big Chance In Serra Affair

Daly City abounds with basketball fans, young and old, who yearn to show the experts how to sink baskets from the free throw line.

They'll have an opportunity to exercise that yen at Serra High's Spring Festival this Sunday when the person tossing in the most consecutive free throws will win an all-expense trip to a Ram-49er football game in Los Angeles, traveling by Southern Pacific.

General chairman Thomas C. Moroney announces that play will start at 2 p.m. on four special baskets, with USF coach Phil Woolpert and Ollie Matson, all-time Don great, throwing the first balls. Prizes will be awarded hourly for the best consecutive strings.

The festival will be held outdoors on Serra's campus, West 20th avenue off El Camino Real in San Mateo. It also will feature a steak barbecue, starting at 4 p.m., plus games and entertainment by Peninsula prep talent.

Garibaldi Street Extension Still Vexes Council

Disposition of the Garibaldi street extension matter was put over again by the city council Monday night.

Some 25 Garibaldi street residents, represented by Albert Teglia, have asked that their street be extended through to Hillside boulevard.

But for the second time Monday they voiced strenuous objection to the per lot assessment, which averages $242, to finance the $12,300 project.

Teglia said his neighbors felt that property owners on Hillside and Mission near the Garibaldi entrance should also bear part of the assessments.

City Attorney Frank Blum reminded him, however, that the law says only the people receiving immediate benefit from the street extension can be assessed for the work.

Mayor Joseph Verducci asked for full particulars on the issue and said the council would resolve the matter next Wednesday.

Watt Booms 'Next Year' For Tribe Tracksters

"Wait 'til next year—just wait."

That's all Coach Bob Watt offered Tuesday after his Jefferson track and field forces trotted away from the PAL finals minus much to boast about.

His three squads didn't do as well as expected. In the two-day showdown (carry-over from Saturday delayed by rain). Tribe varsity picked up 11 points, B's got 6, and the C's managed 5. Far back in the pack, but most of Watt's boys are a year away.

Chase Second

In varsity going, Jeff Chase broke the school record for the pole vault, climbing 12-6 in a tie-for-second effort. San Mateo's Bob Kile won the thing.

Weight specialists Jim Farley (shot) and Bill Martin (discus) grabbed fourth places. Jim tossed the ball 49-10, his best, and Bill uncorked a 123-10 discuss heave.

Soph Len Lamendola, a future champ, established his topper of 51.8, spurting for third in the 440.

Sonny Sixth

Junior Sonny Martinez, held back by a pulled muscle, crossed the tape sixth in the 220. Sonny could be the PAL king in the sprints, fate willing. He owns a 10-flat hundred.

In the B division, Carl Mecchi was third with a shot put of 43-10½, also his best. Soph Felix Valdez, a headliner to come, rambled for third in a mud-slowed 1320.

Gordy Tydingco, who hit 5-4 earlier, deadlocked for second in the high jump. Also recovering from sickness, he did well with a 5-3¾ performance. The C relay unit ran fifth.

Next Outing

Watt will accompany the abovementioned lads to Los Gatos this Friday for the North Coast trials. Finals are May 25 in Berkeley. Survivors there are eligible for the state meet June 1 at Waldorfville.

Vaulter Chase has the best chance to go to the state championships, Watt believes.

The Jeff pilot plans to enter a contingent in the Hollister relays May 31.

SC Frosh-Sophs Trip Rams, 2-1

Nipped 2-1 by South City last week, Westmoor's Frosh-Sophs journey to San Mateo this Friday afternoon for a tiff with Hillsdale.

Byron Van Alstyne's young Rams, 3-6 in the North PAL, finish the season at Marchbanks next Tuesday afternoon against Capuchino.

Phil Fair allowed only three hits in losing Friday. His mates slapped four, but made a like number of errors to ruin the effort.

Westmoor's tally came in the sixth, scored by Rich Reese following consecutive singles by Bill Dougherty, Russ Holmgren and Fair.

Bcth South City runs were unearned, coming in the first and fourth innings. The wee Warriors are tied for the league lead.

Here's How Local Pros Are Working

Three Daly City contributions to pro ball aren't doing too badly so far, a check of The Sporting News showed today.

Ex-Jeff ace Ed Cereghino has an 0-1 mound mark for Richmond in the Class AAA International League. Veteran Mariño Pieretti is 0-2 for Omaha in the Western League, a Class A circuit. And Don Mossi, Cleveland's handy man, is taking a regular turn since Herb Score was decked by the Yankees.

Well-heeled Culprits Burglarize Shoe Fair

Burglars got only $17 cash Saturday night after they took the trouble to break into the Shoe Fair, Junipero Serra boulevard, by cutting a hole in the roof and sliding down a hose.

Many valuables, including thousands of shoes and expensive purses, were untouched. The culprits removed the plate cover on the safe, but there were no signs of tampering with it, police said.

JEFF LINKSMEN HAVE BAD DAY: WARRIORS WIN

It just wasn't Jeff's afternoon Tuesday when the Indian golfers wrapped up their North PAL campaign on the losing end of a surprise 16½-4½ verdict to South City at Lake Merced.

Coach Mike Orlich said his duffers couldn't let out the kinks. Some days are like that.

Jeff's output was as follows: Al Harris, 2½ points; Dave Scatena, 1½, and Vic Shannon, ½.

Defeat gave the locals a 2-3-1 report card. San Mateo is on top, Blingum is second, then come Cap and Jeff.

Orlich sees a revival for his squad on Monday, May 27, when he takes five boys to the PAL finals at San Jose Country Club. Going for our side will be Wayne Guisti, Harris, Shannon and Scatena, with Jack Klinger as alternate.

Watt Is Secretary In PAL Association

Jeff High's Bob Watt, varsity track and frosh-soph football mentor, is new secretary of the Peninsula League Coaches' Association.

President is Capuchino's Don LeClergue. Paul Armstrong of Hillsdale is vice president.

Records 'Nullify' Merman Delucchi

With records falling more than necklines at a photographers' picnic, Jefferson varsity swim captain Phil Delucchi managed only a tenth place finish last week in the North Coast Section championships at Santa Clara.

Winner of Delucchi's race, the 100-yard breaststroke, almost busted the clocks with a timing of 56-flat.

Phil has turned down an invitation to the pentathlon affair this Saturday at Carlmont. The Tribe standout works part-time, thus won't be able to make the trip.
